

KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

When you have a life-or limb-threatening emergency, go to the emergency room (ER) or call 911. If it's not life threatening, you have options, including visiting your primary care physician, scheduling a Virtual Health Video Visit with a Kelsey-Seybold provider, or going to a local in-network urgent care center. Become familiar with these options before you need to go. If you need help after hours or weekends with deciding on treatment options, call 713-442-0000 to talk to a Kelsey-Seybold nurse 24/7.

Where should I go for care?

Urgent Care Centers vs. Emergency Room (ER)

When to go to an urgent care center:

Urgent care centers can handle many non-life-threatening conditions such as:

- High fever
- Abdominal pains
- Earache
- Insect bites
- Minor cuts requiring stitches
- Minor burns
- Muscle spasms
- Asthma attacks
- Rashes
- Urinary tract and pelvic infections

And because urgent care centers have X-ray capability, they can treat simple fractures and sprains.

When to go to the ER:

If you have a serious condition – stroke, heart attack, severe bleeding, head injury, or other major trauma – you should be seen in an emergency room. The ER is the best place for critical conditions, including:

- Chest pain
- Difficulty breathing
- Severe bleeding or head trauma
- Loss of consciousness
- Sudden loss of vision or blurred vision

If a situation seems life-threatening, take immediate action and call 911.
